

Hi everyone! My name is Theo and I'm a theologian. A theologian is someone who is interested in asking questions about what people believe.

I understand that some stories, texts and sources of authority are important to others.

I understand the meaning and significance of particular stories, texts and sources of authority.

I understand how the context of important stories, texts and sources of authority might affect its meaning.

I understand how different worldviews can influence the meaning we take from a story, text or source of authority.

DIGGING DEEPER WITH THEO THE THEOLOGIAN

What does this story tell me?

Does everyone see the same meaning as me? Why or why not? How might context affect the meaning?

Where did this source of authority come from?

How might this affect the way in which it is read or interpreted?

Why is this story important?

What or who is the story about?

What happens in this story?

Who told this story or wrote this text?

Who was it written for? Why was it written?

Hi everyone! My name is Theo and I'm a theologian. A theologian is someone who is interested in asking questions about what people believe.

I understand that some stories, texts and sources of authority are important to others.

I understand the meaning and significance of particular stories, texts and sources of authority.

DIGGING DEEPER WITH THEO THE THEOLOGIAN

What does this story tell me?

Does everyone see the same meaning as me?

Why or why not?

How might context affect the meaning?

Who was it written for?

Why is this story important?

What or who is the story about?

What happens in this story?

Who told this story or wrote this text?

Why was it written?

Hi everyone! My name is Theo and I'm a theologian. A theologian is someone who is interested in asking questions about what people believe.

I like to ask questions about the story

Why is this story important?
What or who is the story about?
What happens in this story?

Hi everyone! My name is Livvy and I'm a social scientist. A social scientist is someone who is interested in how people live their lives.

I know there are questions we can ask to help us understand how context, including time, place, culture, gender etc affects the way in which people live.

I know there is information that can tell us how people live, which helps us better understand their worldview, including objects, places, photographs, videos, surveys, and case studies etc,

DIGGING DEEPER WITH LIVVY THE HUMAN AND SOCIAL SCIENTIST

Where is this information from?

Does this matter?

How might this make a difference to the way I understand it?

How else can we find out about this?

Who does this?
What happens here?
Would it happen the same or differently somewhere else?

Who uses this thing?
How is it used?

Hi everyone! My name is Livvy and I'm a social scientist. A social scientist is someone who is interested in how people live their lives.

I know there are questions we can ask to help us understand how context, including time, place, culture, gender etc affects the way in which people live.

I know there is information that can tell us how people live, which helps us better understand their worldview, including objects, places, photographs, videos, surveys, and case studies etc,

I know there are questions we can ask that help us understand how our own worldviews might shape the way we interpret information about how people live.

I know there are questions we can ask that help us understand the importance of considering the origin of sources of information about how people live.

DIGGING DEEPER WITH LIVVY THE HUMAN AND SOCIAL SCIENTIST

Where is this information from?

Does this matter?

How might this make a difference to the way I understand it?

How else can we find out about this?

What is this?

Would this look different in a different time or place?

Who does this?

What happens here?

Would it happen the same or differently somewhere else?

Who uses this thing?

How is it used?

Where is this information from and how might this change the way I see it?

How else can we find out about this?

Hi everyone! My name is Livvy and I'm a social scientist. A social scientist is someone who is interested in how people live their lives.

I like to ask questions about the different artefacts we might look at.

Who does this?
What happens here?
Who uses this thing?
How is it used?
How else can we find out about this?

Hi everyone! My name is Phil and I'm a philosopher. A philosopher is someone who is interested in how people think.

I know there are questions we can ask that help us understand more about how humans think or reason about themselves, others and the world around them.

I know there are questions we can ask that help us understand the different ways in which people might think or reason about themselves, others and the world.

I know there are questions we can ask that help us understand whether our own and others' processes of reasoning are reliable.

I know there are questions we can ask that help us understand the importance of considering how different people articulate their understanding of 'validity'.

DIGGING DEEPER WITH PHIL THE PHILOSOPHER

What questions do I have about this?
Why do I think what I think?
Do we all have the same questions?
Do I think the same thing as others?
Why am I here?
Is this real?
How do I know?
What evidence is there?

How do we know what we know?
What evidence do we have?
Can I give a reason why I think what I think?
What is the reason for this?
Does this make sense?
What different types of evidence might there be?

Hi everyone! My name is Phil and I'm a philosopher. A philosopher is someone who is interested in how people think.

I know there are questions we can ask that help us understand more about how humans think or reason about themselves, others and the world around them.

I know there are questions we can ask that help us understand the different ways in which people might think or reason about themselves, others and the world.

DIGGING DEEPER WITH PHIL THE PHILOSOPHER

What questions do I have about this?
Why do I think what I think?

Do we all have the same questions?
Do I think the same thing as others?

How do we know what we know?

Can I give a reason why I think what I think?

What is the reason for this?

Does this make sense?

Hi everyone! My name is Phil and I'm a philosopher. A philosopher is someone who is interested in how people think.

I like to ask lots of questions!

What questions do I have about this?
Do we all have the same questions?
Do I think the same thing as others?
Is this real?